Foreword

Julie Sinnamon,
Chief Executive Officer, Enterprise Ireland

Today we celebrate the founders behind the Start-Up Class of 2019.

A strong start-up economy is absolutely vital to the future of Ireland. Start-ups are a powerful driver of economic growth, new talent and innovation. In Enterprise Ireland we are committed to helping founders to start and grow their business internationally. These founders are our future business leaders, and their businesses the lifeblood of our economy.

I wish to commend the 2019 founders for their achievements to date in establishing their new businesses, recruiting their teams and securing the necessary investment to bring their ideas to fruition.

We see the determination and resilience required to get these companies up and running. It requires courage and perseverance, never missing an opportunity to network, to connect with someone who can make a difference to your business, turning problems into challenges, building a team that will support and challenge you along the way.

In 2019 we approved 91 High Potential Start-Up (HPSU) investments and 36 Competitive Start Fund (CSF) investments. Enterprise Ireland invested €24m to help these companies achieve their international growth ambitions, 42% of which were located outside of Dublin.

Within the Start-Up class of 2019:

- 38 female led start-up companies were approved investment
- 13 HPSUs were successfully commercialised in partnership with our 3rd level research institutions
- 16 additional HPSUs received follow-on investment funding as their business scaled
Innovation is the key differentiator for Irish companies in competing and winning in global markets. As we convene here today at Start-Up Showcase, we can see first-hand the outstanding companies and founders who are making their mark – game changers with the potential to dominate in niche sectors globally.

Enterprise Ireland will continue to support these innovative start-ups that have the potential to disrupt and transform how markets and businesses work. We look forward to continuing, to help them achieve their full global ambition, accelerating their growth through Enterprise Ireland’s potent formula of funding, network and expertise.
